

Genuine Allied Parts

Your best guarantee for reliability and long service life

Use Original Allied Replacement Parts

You are purchasing an investment.

When you purchase an Allied Construction Products, LLC product, you are purchasing more than a product. You are purchasing an investment.

For over 65 years, Allied has developed products that are legendary in the construction and demolition industries that demand high performance. Names like Ho-Ram, Hy-Ram®, Ho-Pac®, Hole-Hog® and Pedestal Breaker System™ are names that represent:

- Simple, proven design (Our attachments have high resale or trade-in value)
- Reliable performance (If you purchased an Allied attachment, you're probably still using it)
- Superior productivity (Compare AEM—formerly CIMA—ratings, our attachments get the job done faster)

Be sure. Buy Genuine Allied Replacement Parts.

And, through one of the most respected parts and service networks in North America, we continue to provide Genuine Allied Replacement Parts for all of those products.

Each Genuine Allied Replacement Part has been designed and developed together with the Allied product. Suppliers have been carefully selected and must retain the original characteristics of the Allied parts.

Genuine Allied Replacement Parts should be regarded as part of a system that functions well together rather than individually. The sum of the parts is greater than the whole. So, when you purchase a construction equipment product from Allied Construction Products, LLC, you are purchasing something greater in value than the product itself. Genuine Allied Replacement Parts are your best guarantee for operational reliability and long service life.

Some "will-fit" parts may initially be less expensive, but these "will-fit" parts can work out to be far more expensive in the long run. These parts do not have the original characteristics of the Genuine Allied Replacement Parts. That could mean reduced service life for the part and reduced performance for your Allied product.

With Genuine Allied Replacement Parts, you always get:

- High quality and good value
- Full warranty coverage
- Parts designed and developed for your product
- Optimum machine performance
- Up-to-date technology
- Fast, dependable delivery
